WHAT IS THE 911 LIFELINE LAW?

The Texas 9-1-1 Lifeline Law prevents a person under 21 from being charged by the police for possessing or consuming alcohol if he/she takes a person to receive emergency treatment or calls 911 due to possible overdose of alcohol.

Remember to call for help and remain on the scene. Minors can still get a DUI if they drive with any alcohol in their system, even if they are helping a friend.

TEXAS ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CODE

§106.04 CONSUMPTION OF ALCOHOL BY A MINOR.

(a) A minor commits an offense if he consumes an alcoholic beverage.

§106.05 POSSESSION OF ALCOHOL BY A MINOR.

(a) A minor commits an offense if he possesses an alcoholic beverage.

Subsection (a) does not apply to a minor who:

- (1) requested emergency medical assistance in response to the possible alcohol overdose of the minor or another person;
- (2) was the first person to make a request for medical assistance under Subdivision (1); and
- (3) if the minor requested emergency medical assistance for the possible alcohol overdose of another person:
 - (A) remained on the scene until the medical assistance arrived; and
 - (B) cooperated with medical assistance and law enforcement personnel.

Even though a minor may not be charged with possessing or consuming an alcoholic beverage under the 911 Lifeline Law, they may still be charged with:

- Providing Alcohol to a Minor
- Zero Tolerance Violation

Remember: It is illegal for a minor to drive a motor vehicle or operate a watercraft while having ANY detectable amount of alcohol in the minor's system. This is also known as DUI (Driving Under the Influence).
